With the changing tax laws, tax time can be confusing. Tax returns prepared using software programs and by accountants are based upon the reporting information you gather. Important deductions are often missed because related documents are not located or prepared. These include crucial medical, employee business and investment items. This seminar will focus on necessary documents to prepare 2011 federal and state tax returns. Checklists and related documentation requirements will be reviewed for both wage earners and small business owners to help ensure that income tax returns are prepared accurately. Facilitated by Peter Herbst and Bimal Gupta, CPAs with Parsippany Tax and Accounting Corporation
